

Competition Litigation Lawyers with a Civil Law Background (6 - 12 Month Paid Internships in Luxembourg)

Employer

CDC Cartel Damage Claims (hereafter “CDC”) is the pioneer and the leader in private competition enforcement in Europe. We empower victims of cartels by creating effective ways to enforce damage claims. CDC is the only company with a truly unique pan-European and multi-disciplinary team of lawyers, economists and IT specialists dedicated to obtaining optimal damages for corporate antitrust victims.

Our offer

We offer paid internships for competition litigation enthusiasts at our Luxembourg office, for a duration of 6 to 12 months, starting as of April 2019. These internships may lead to full-time contracts.

Role and responsibilities

During the internship, you will support our experienced lawyers, economists and case managers in their day-to-day tasks. This includes:

- Assisting in the preparation of ongoing pan-European actions for damages.
- Researching and drafting memoranda on French contract/tort/procedural law, as well as EU and French competition law.
- Assisting in translations and contract management.
- Preparing legal and factual research notes for future cases in European and French actions for damages.
- Contributing to publications, conference presentations and blog articles on competition law issues.

Requirements

- Possess a Master II in Law and previously completed modules on EU competition law.
- Educated on civil law or both civil and common law.
- Fluent in French and excellent oral and written communication skills in English.
- Have a keen interest in competition litigation.
- IT savvy and have a good command of MS Office.
- Business-oriented, team-player, and innovative.

Nice to have (but not required)

- Prior internships in competition law departments of law firms, companies, the EU Courts, DG Competition and/or National Competition Authorities.
- Additional fluency in other European languages, particularly German and Dutch.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, your CV, transcripts, writing samples in French and English, as well as any publications you may have.
